

A photograph of a mountain valley. A red line is drawn across the image, starting from a red dot on a steep, forested slope and winding its way down towards a river in the valley floor. The landscape is rugged, with green forests, rocky patches, and some snow on the higher mountain peaks in the background. The sky is overcast.

Starting point

Path leading to the minimum (hopefully)